TILL THURSDAY

The Homestead Strikers Will Have Time to Return.

The Carnegies Advertise for Contracts to Build New Houses.

For the New Workmen They Expect Employ—These Houses Will be Built at Once—There Are a Great Many Applicants for Employment.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 18.—The following notice was published yesterday by the Carnegie Steel Co. at the Homestead steel mill in the vicinity of the works, and was sent all over the country:

"Notice—Individual applications for employment at the Homestead steel works will be received by the general superintendent, either by letter or person, until 6 a. m. Thursday, July 19, 1892."

"It is our desire to retain in our service all of our employees whose past record is satisfactory, and we hope that every effort will be made to interfere with our right to manage our business."

"Now, since the day before seventy years ago when Hyron and Trevisan stood in the glaze of blinding driftwood that cremated the remains of their friend, the poet Shelley, a stranger funeral ceremony marked the passing time. Never in the history of man have the events of last night had their precedent."

"That notice will be the last given to the employees of the works, and after non-compliance with the terms the places will be filled with union men."

That there are non-union men in the Homestead mill and plants going is evident, said Mr. L. C. Fink, manager of one of the mills, on Saturday. When asked how many non-union men were in the mill he said: "Well, now, really I can not discuss the details of this question, and am not at liberty to tell you how many men there are in the mill."

"Will you say how many men will go up before you get ready to start the mill?"

"No, I can't. There are some things the public has no right to know, and that is the reason I can't tell them," he said. "But I can tell you that our Union men will be given until Monday, July 18, to return to work under a new agreement. The Union mills will be started Monday, the 18th, and we will have no trouble in getting competent men to fill the places, in spite of what they say about no one but old hands being able to successfully run the works."

The Carnegie Steel Co. has advertised for bids for furnishing materials and building 100 houses on the city farm lots, and all contracts will be let, and will be erected at once, and will be for the use of the men employed in the mill. The location inside of the enclosure, and protection will thus be assured to the men, even in their houses. The houses will be from six to eight rooms, and each will be built separately on a good sized lot.

A prominent and well-informed labor leader explained the smoke from the mill by saying: "The cupolas are filled with smoke, and the smoke is Wrighted through the chimneys, and the birch bark stone in them, the few factories are fired also, this being done to save them from dampness. There are no men in the works, but the regular watchmen and a few drivers. Those people who never stopped work to fire the mill, stop work thoroughly, understand why the men are there and are not alarmed about it, nor are they concerned over the lighting of the furnaces."

One of the leading officials of the Carnegie Steel Co. was found at the general office Saturday sorting over a miscellaneous collection of mail, among which were many letters making application for positions in the Homestead mills. Others expressed a dissatisfaction with the strike and were intended to square the writers with the firm when the trouble over.

Exploding Gas wrecks a Building.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 18.—Early Saturday morning an explosion, presumably of gas, occurred in the tinware manufacturer of Fleming & Hamilton, on 61 and 63rd Avenue. The building and contents were entirely destroyed, but the fire did not spread to the third floor, in the Japanese department. Within five minutes the flames had spread through the building. Within three months the building has on fire three times, each time the week previous to Saturday. The loss by Saturday morning's fire is about $40,000, and is well insured.

Mines injured by Dynamite.

DAYTON, Tenn., July 18.—Robert Briggs, J. W. Young, Charles Gamble, and a man named Stover were seriously, and probably fatally, injured by the exploded dynamite which was in the new mine of the Dayton Coal and Iron Co. They had put some dynamite down, and it not exploding, they went down drilling it out again, when there was a sudden explosion. Briggs, who had charge of the work, was holding the drill, and was the most seriously injured of any of the party.

California Fruits scarce.

SAN JOSE, Calif., July 18.—Owing to the shortness of the fruit crop, especially apricots, prices have gone up considerably in the past few days, and orchards have been harvested earlier than usual. Apples and pears are still in good supply. Apples, which were selling a few days ago at 1½ cents per pound or $30 per ton now bring $60 per ton, while prunes which sold for $30 per ton now bring $60, with corresponding increase in price for other varieties of fruit.

Gas Careless.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 18.—R. J. Jones, an aged invalid, died from the bichloride of gold treatment. He had been taking the treatment for several weeks, and began drinking again, which resulted in his going violently insane and dying 20 miles after the first attack in the most agonizing agony.

WEIRD AND SOLEMN

Were the Rites Held Over the Corpse of Suicide Collins.

CHICAGO, July 18.—Just across the Indiana line, on the shores of Lake Michigan, in the town of Chicago, July 7, was committed suicide by the Whiteshovel club, of this city. The torch was applied to the mighty pile of pitch-soaked wood at 10:30 o'clock, during the five hours the burning funeral services were enacted about the blazing pile, word music and recitations interspersed with addresses replete with personal reminiscence and spoken by friends of the dead man, filled with deep emotion and the strength of the scene. When at last the consuming flames had done well their work, the ash of the man who in life had found stony pathways and bitter-troubled ways, was scattered with reverential care and placed in an urn on which loving hands had traced in many hued pictures symbolic of the principles which had once animated the life of him who was no more.

Now, since the day before seventy years ago when Hyron and Trevisan stood in the glaze of blinding driftwood that cremated the remains of their friend, the poet Shelley, a stranger funeral ceremony marked the passing time. Never in the history of man have the events of last night had their precedent.

Before ending his life, Collins wrote a letter to a friend, concluding with these words: "Please see that my body is turned over to the authorities, and that the anti-German sympathizers it according to the custom of the boys who have been my friends and well-wishers. It is growing dark; a moment more and all will be light or eternal darkness (good-bye, old friend.)"

Then the priest came, and the door was closed behind him.

The drunks sullenly looked on. The priest alone seemed to have any sympathy for the deceased.

Some idea of the condition of the Cincinnati may be obtained from the fact that a dozen horses were to one side of the hull of the big flat boat and sunk to its belly in the soft mud. Considerable difficulty was experienced in extricating the animal and dray.

The committee in charge of the parade on Labor Day at Cincinnati are unanimous in their intention of prohibiting the display of red flags in the turnout, though some of them think that it would be safe to take part in the parade in view of the avowed socialists. Mrs. ANNE LAMB and daughter Alice were attacked by two unknown white men about 10 p.m. on the streets of Wilkesboro and Cumberland Gap. The women fought bravely, and a party of men hearing their cries rushed to their aid. The scoundrels, however, fled, but not until one of them had shot Mrs. Lamb, breaking her leg. A strong pressure is being brought to bear upon Sheriff Brown to move him to parson David Hilliard, and to sentence for the killing of John Miller in Breckinridge county three years ago. Miller, who was County Judge at that time, was shot dead by his wife, and she committed suicide with him. Miller died in his office, locked the door, made a demand for five thousand dollars, and the command. Miller refused to sign the check or pay $5,000, and Pulliam shot him dead.
